Quinze dos grupos cibercriminosos mais notórios, incluindo Aranha Dispersa, ShinyHunters e Lapsus$, anunciaram seu fechamento. Seu coletivo declaração, publicado em Fóruns de violação É a mensagem mais explícita do underground nos últimos anos.

O grupo enfatizou que Seu objetivo era menos extorsão do que demonstrar as fraquezas dos sistemas digitais. Agora, no entanto, eles declararam que preferem “silêncio” aos ataques públicos.

O documento, publicado sob vários pseudônimos de hackers conhecidos, afirma que a decisão foi tomada após três dias de silêncio, vividos pelos participantes com suas famílias e revisando seus planos em caso de perseguição. Eles disseram que estavam “esperando muito tempo” nas últimas 72 horas para finalmente confirmar sua estratégia de saída e alinhamento interno.[IMAGEM REMOVIDA]We apologize for our silence and the ambiguities of our message, whose sole recipients did not understand the profound meaning.

These 72 hours spent in silence have been important for us to speak with our families, our relatives, and to confirm the efficiency of our contingency plans and our intentions.

These 72 hours had hoped for a long time.

As you know, the last weeks have been hectic. While we were amusing you, the FBI, Mandiant, and a few others by paralyzing Jaguar factories, (superficially) hacking Google 4 times, blowing up Salesforce and CrowdStrike defenses, the final parts of our contingency plans were being activated.

You might or might not have realized, but our behavior evolved recently. When we entered into Google systems, we decided not to pursue over a certain point. In among others, we willingly left them in wonder of whether Google’s Workspace, Person Finder, GMAIL including legacy branches got dominated.

This has been happening more and more, as we decided to progressively abandon some of our tools (Hello, Tutanota) and our correspondents to their own faith.

Will Kering, Air France, American Airlines, British Airlines, and among many other critical infrastructure face THE CONSEQUENCES OF THEIR PUBLIC OR SECRET data breaches? I'd wonder too if I was them, as they know some have yet to receive any demand for ransom – or anything else.

Are their data currently being exploited, whilst US, UK, AU, and French authorities fill themselves with the illusions thinking they have gotten the situation under control?

Do they know that we're observing them as they painfully try to upload their HD logos to the BF servers? How do they painfully try to convince judges that they have found, for the second time in a row, the real Hollow? As they claim to arrest members of the real dark forces, on the other side of the Mediterranean, to better protect the system and its real leaders?

Have they not realized we were everywhere?

Vanity is never but an ephemeral triumph. And manipulation of opinion is never anything else than vanity.

This is why we have decided that silence will now be our strength.

You may see our names in new data breach disclosure reports from the tens of other multi billion dollar companies that have yet to disclose a breach, as well as some governmental agencies, including highly secured ones, that does not mean we are still active.

Judicial decisions will keep on busy police officers, magistrates and journalists.

They will all be dead traces of the past.

We want to share a thought for the eight people that have been raided or arrested in relations to these campaigns, Scattered Spider and/or ShinyHunters groups since beginning on April 2024 and thereafter 2025, and especially to the four who are now in custody in France.

We want to expand our regrets to their relatives, and apologize for their sacrifice. Any State needs its scapegoat. Those carefully selected targets are the last collateral victims of our war on power, and the use of our skills to humiliate those who have humiliated, prey on those who have preyed. We have ensured that the investigations targeting them will progressively fall apart, and that their mild vanity sins will not inflict on them, long term consequences.

We have done so by ensuring that enough of our dirty laundry would hint to them, whilst keeping them away from any serious liability. We've learned this from the best. This fine, tightrope walker equilibrium, so few are capable of reaching, is taught on an every day basis at Langley.

This is the last lesson we wanted to share with you. Talent and skill is not everything. Planning and power rule the world.

We will not try to help anyone anymore, directly or indirectly, to establish their innocence.

We've decided to let go.

It is now time to offer you what you have been waiting for. The truth.

We LAPSUS$, Trihash, Yurosh, yaxsh, WyTroZz, N3z0x, Nitroz, TOXQUEROOT, Prosox, Pertinax, Kurosh, Clown, IntelBroker, Scattered Spider, Yukari, and among many others, have decided to go dark.

Our objectives having been fulfilled, it is now time to say goodbye.

If you worry about us, don't. The most stupid (Yurosh, Intel – say hi, you poor La Santé impersonator) will enjoy our golden parachutes with the millions the group accumulated. Others will keep on studying and improving systems you use in your daily lives. In silence.

Others finally will just go gentle into that good night.

Thank you to everyone who has watched and stuck around.

Goodbye.
